If I lose coverage at any time during my term of service, I will complete a new Health Insurance form and submit to WSC. (Please submit a copy of the health insurance ID card or other evidence of coverage.)

I have health insurance coverage by one of the following methods:

- Family health care coverage: Under the Affordable Care Act, you can stay on your parent’s health insurance policy until your 26th birthday. You can even remain on your parent’s plan if you are married, not living with your parent(s), attending school, or not financially dependent on your parent(s). For more information about this option, please see: <https://www.healthcare.gov/young-adults/children-under-26/>. In addition, if you are married, you may be able to get coverage on your spouse’s plan.
- Health care coverage purchased through the Health Insurance Marketplace: You may be eligible to obtain health care coverage through the Washington Health Plan Finder Marketplace for Washington State, and you may qualify for financial assistance to lower the costs of insurance. In some cases, insurance may be available with no monthly premium. Learn more at www.wahealthplanfinder.org.
- Medicaid coverage: Under the Affordable Care Act, Washington State expanded its Medicaid program in 2014 to cover households with incomes up to 133% of the federal poverty level. That works out to about $16,644 a year for one person or $33,948 for a family of four. You can find out whether you qualify for Medicaid in Washington two ways: Contact your state Medicaid agency right now or fill out an application for coverage in the Health Insurance Marketplace.
